

GOD'S HEART REVEALED

“Behold, you stand on the threshold of a new day. For I have truly great things in store for you. You have not understanding to conceive that which I am about to do, yet I shall bring to pass a new thing!

“The days ahead may call for greater endurance and more robust faith than you have ever needed before. Welcome this. For you must surely know by this time how precious are the lessons learned through such experiences. Resign all into My hands—be obedient to My still small voice—hold to My promises—and allow Me to walk ahead to choose the right path for you, so that you may move forward with courage and confidence.

“Heaven’s resources are at your command. You need never want so long as I am your source. In your daily walk, you shall be victorious only to the degree that you trust Me. My promises are of no avail to you except as you apply and appropriate them by faith. Child, I cannot bless you if you do not seek Me, and I cannot answer you if you do not make your requests, your needs known. Never presume upon My presence. Never assume that knowing your need, I will automatically supply it. Ask, and it shall be given; call upon Me, and I will answer you. Tell Me that you love Me, and I will make your heart know Me in such a way that you will never doubt My love for you.

“Your love for Me also deepens as you pray and receive an answer. For each answer is evidence of My concern for you and My desire to bless you. The more you pray, the more My love is revealed to you; thus your faith is growing stronger by reason of exercise, but also your heart is being melted by My love for you and your response. The experience of prayer answered is of only incidental importance in comparison to your growth in grace and spiritual maturity.

“When you pray, ask not only for the desired results, but also that your heart will be strengthened to receive. Ponder for a moment what great crises you would face if all your prayers were answered! Could you bear it? The new joy—the added responsibility? You have watched some succeed only to fail. This occurs when outer blessings are sought and inner strength neglected. The two must be combined; otherwise you will fail in your attempt to live in the abundance of My goodness to you.

“You can never ask beyond My power to provide. Ask then, with complete confidence, but in all you desire, let it be for the enrichment of your soul. Learn the value of spiritual riches, and set your heart on their attainment. Do not require Me to operate within the limitations of your life. I am calling you to give My Spirit within you the liberty to move out into the dimensions of the infinite. I have better things for you—but you can know Me in the Spirit only as you go deeper in your worship of Me. By setting your soul, through deliberate choice of your will, to pursue worshipping Me by praying in the spirit, you shall find your life bathed in My love and your spirit surrounded by My very Being.

“I will use, in a new way and in accordance with my highest purposes, whatever lies within you of native abilities—or I may give you something entirely new. Behold, My hand is upon you to bless you and to accomplish all My good purpose. Remember always that I control all that touches you, and as I move to order your life, I not only open the right doors, but close the wrong ones. Whenever a wrong door is closed, it is by My hand as much as when a right one opens. In this way, I not only bring you joy but spare you pain. Trust me—for you will not always understand, but in time you will see how I am always working to fulfill My plan for your life. With your faith laying hold upon My promises and power, and your actions motivated by a desire to do My will, you will find that I am already making ready the very things and the people who will have a part in fulfilling My purposes in your life. My times are not always your times, just as My thoughts are not always your thoughts. But be assured that My perfect plan is being unveiled through all circumstances.” Amen!
